Topic: How to Mitigate your Insurance Risk

Having joined the insurance industry in 2009, Steve brings a wealth of experience to GSI. His background includes consultancy, brokerage across a wide range of industries and various management roles. His experience is invaluable to the GSI team, bringing a deep commitment to fostering strong client relationships.

Steve values teamwork and believes insurance brokers should focus on quality advice and claims service not sales targets. Steve is also an avid football supporter – as for the team he supports, we might keep that quiet and let him share it with you.
