

Tony Alexander

Topic: Economic/Market Update

Tony Alexander was Chief Economist at the BNZ for almost 25 years and has been out on his own as an independent economist since late 2019. He distributes the free weekly “Tony’s View” publication to over 30,000 subscribers each week, writes a weekly column for OneRoof, and speaks at about 80 functions a year around New Zealand.

He also runs five monthly surveys which give coalface insight into what is happening in the New Zealand industry, in the housing market in particular.
